

Participate in research and get paid!

Healthy individuals wanted to help us identify the brain mechanisms happening during adolescence and early adulthood.

Boys Town National Research Hospital is seeking healthy volunteers to participate in a brain scanning study to improve our understanding of the impact of puberty on brain and mental health.

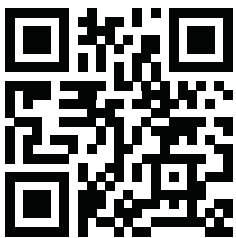

If you are healthy, between the ages of 12 and 25 and interested in helping research, contact us! You will be compensated $90 and receive a free picture of your brain!

This study involves one or two visits, during which you will play some brain games and have a free brain MRI scan.
